Forecast for Saturday 25 Jun 2022

Weather: A day of clear/sunny spells and showers. The showers will be most widespread mid-morning to mid-afternoon, and some will be heavy with a risk of thunder. Showers easing off into the evening allowing for some late sunshine, though more widespread cloud beginning to push into the west during the final couple of hours of the day.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 80%

Low cloud and visibility: Very good visibility for most of the time with distant hills clear to see. However, visibility will quickly deteriorate to poor under any showers. The heaviest showers could also lower the cloud to 850-900m and briefly cover the highest summits.

Meteorologist's View

Be prepared to quickly change course should any thundery showers develop. Adequate waterproofs will also need to be easily accessible for when showers arrive.

Forecast for Sunday 26 Jun 2022

Weather: Cloud spreading across the park through the early hours. This accompanied by occasional spells of rain, turning more frequent, persistent, and perhaps heavy, into the afternoon. The rain gradually easing into the evening with some clear spells developing.

Maximum wind: 30-35mph southerly winds on the summits, gusting 45-50mph at times.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 60% for most of the day.

Low cloud and visibility: Widespread cloud predominantly around 850-900ft but occasionally lowering to 500-600ft, chiefly on western slopes, shrouding the higher routes. Visibility also dropping at lower levels as a result of any rain, but largely good in between.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 9 Celsius, rising to plus 18 Celsius.
At 600m: Plus 5 Celsius, rising to plus 8 Celsius.
Freezing level: Above the summits.
